

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Friederike Alm is a PhD researcher and lecturer in Political Science at Johann-Wolfgang-Goethe-University, Frankfurt am Main, Germany. Her research looks at the politics of immigration, citizenship, and immigrant integration in comparative perspective.

Alexander Burlin is a Research Fellow at NYU Abu Dhabi working on refugee law and policy in the Arab world. He is also an independent research consultant and the editor-in-chief of Afkar: The Undergraduate Journal of Middle East Studies.

Sara Eltokhy is urban planner and researcher. Completed a M.Sc. in Urban Planning and Policy Design at Politecnico di Milano University. Through her research she integrates her interest in migration and gender studies within urban planning discourses and practices.

Simona Fer, PhD Lecturer, Faculty of History, International Relations, Political Science and Communication Sciences, Department of Political Science and Communication Sciences, University of Oradea, Area of expertise: The Language of Journalism, News Agency Journalism, Basic and Social Communication in English, Contact: simonag_1976@yahoo.com.

Greta Häggblom Kronlöf is an associate professor in Occupational Science and lecturer in Occupational Therapy at the University of Gothenburg. She conducts research on health promotion interventions that enable active lives among older people born in Sweden as well as people who migrated to Sweden. Furthermore, she conducts research about sustainable engagement in activities that are part of people's daily routines, such as waste sorting.

Coralie Hellwig is a registered occupational therapist who holds a Master degree in her profession from the University of Gothenburg. She is also a PhD candidate at the University of Borås, where she furthers her research on adaptations post migration and contributes to the Swedish Centre of Resource Recovery, which aims to increase participation in household waste sorting, with an occupational perspective. Contact: coralie.hellwig@hb.se.

Marvin Jammernann graduated from the University of Hamburg with a BA in Political Science in 2018. Mr. Jammernann is politically engaged in various organisations and NGOs (medico international, Welcome United, Welcome to Barmbek etc.). Currently he is seeking a master degree in the European Master of Migration and Intercultural Relations (EMMIR) program.

Cristina Matiuta, PhD, is Associate Professor at the University of Oradea, Romania, Department of Political Science and Communication. She teaches in the areas of Civil Society, Political Parties and Theory and practice of democracy. She is Jean Monnet professor in the field of European integration studies. Contact: cmatiuta@uoradea.ro.

Irina Pop is a lecturer at Oradea University, Political Science and Communication Sciences Department. She is currently the leader of the EU funded project, COMXEN (www.comxen.ro). She has written and published over 15 specialized articles and she also wrote two books: Collective Branding. An Inquiring into Branding Nations (2011); The Philosophical Foundation of Images in the Communication Process. Identity and Image (2017). Contact: popirinamihaela@gmail.com.

Gregor Schäfer is a doctoral candidate in sociology at the University of Siegen and research associate at the Fernuniversität in Hagen. His PhD focuses on 'Spatial and social mobility of doctoral candidates in the context of Europeanization and internationalization of higher education'. His research interests also include high-skilled migration, processes of horizontal Europeanization and higher education as distinction as well as Bourdieusian theory in general. Contact: gregor.schaefer@uni-siegen.de.

Cristina Stephens, PhD, is an Associate Professor of Sociology in the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice at Kennesaw State University, Atlanta, GA where she teaches courses in Social Theory and Social Science Research Methods. She holds a university degree from the Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest, Romania, a Master's degree in Social Policy from the University of Oxford, England and a PhD in Sociology from Georgia State University. Prior to joining Kennesaw State University, Dr. Stephens worked as a researcher for the American Cancer Society. Her research interests focus on the intersection of migration, acculturation, family, health and quality of life. Contact: cstep123@kennesaw.edu.

Marius Ioan TĂTAR, PhD, is Lecturer in Political Science at the University of Oradea, Department of Political Science and Communication and former Postdoctoral Research Fellow at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland. His main research areas include political participation and democratization in Central and Eastern Europe. E-mail: mariustatar@yahoo.com.

Sara Young, PhD, is a Senior Teaching Fellow at the UCL Institute of Education. Her research interests include young people and migration, narrative inquiry, and the relationship between language and identity. Email: sara.young@ucl.ac.uk.

Tim Zumloh holds a bachelor of arts degree in history and political science. He currently finishes his master's course in International Migration and Intercultural Relations at Institute for Migration Research and Intercultural Studies (IMIS), University of Osnabrück, Germany. The article is an ab-breviated and revised version of his master's thesis. Contact: tzumloh@uni-osnabrueck.de.