

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Juhar Yasin ABAMOSA is a PhD candidate at Department of Education, University of Bergen in Norway. His PhD project tries to look into the role of different institutions in social inclusion or social exclusion of refugees into higher education in Norway. In addition to this, his research interest includes education policy, higher education, refugee higher education and social capital. E-mail: juhar.abamosa@uib.no.

Simona FER, PhD Lecturer, Faculty of History, International Relations, Political Science and Communication Sciences, Department of Political Science and Communication Sciences, University of Oradea, Area of expertise: The Language of Journalism, News Agency Journalism, Basic and Social Communication in English, Contact: simonag_1976@yahoo.com.

Lorenzo C. B. GONTIJO holds a BA in International Relations from Centro Universitário de Belo Horizonte – UniBH (Brazil), and is currently an independent researcher working with subjects related to migration and the intersection between politics, identity, and culture in the Middle East and North Africa. He is also interested in the humanitarian and development field, dealing with research, project management, monitoring and evaluation (M&E). E-mail: lorenzocbg@gmail.com.

Maria Antonietta IMPEDOVO, Ph.D., is Associate Professor at ADEF Laboratory, Aix-Marseille University, France. She teaches at School of Education Aix-Marseille University, France. Her main research interests are human developing and sociocultural psychology. E-mail: maria-antonietta.impedovo@univ-amu.fr.

Amer Saad KHUSHMAN holds a master degree from Southampton Business School, Department of Strategy, Innovation and Entrepreneurship, University of Southampton and he is Associate Member at the Centre of Global Human Movement, University of Cambridge. E-mail: Khushman.am@gmail.com.

Ana Deborah S. LANA holds a BA in International Relations from Centro Universitário de Belo Horizonte - UniBH (Brazil), and is currently working in an international humanitarian NGO at the Minas Gerais office in Brazil. She is also an independent researcher interested in migration, cultural, and development studies, adopting critical perspectives such as Poststructuralism and Postcolonialism. E-mail: deborahana2010@hotmail.com.

David PENDERY, PhD, is Associate Professor at the National Taipei University of Business, Taipei, Taiwan.

Irina POP is a lecturer at Oradea University, Political Science and Communication Sciences Department. She is currently the leader of the EU funded project, COMXEN (www.comxen.ro). She has written and published over 15 specialized articles and she also wrote two books: Collective Branding. An Inquiring into Branding Nations (2011); The Philosophical Foundation of Images in the Communication Process. Identity and Image (2017). Contact: popirinamihaela@gmail.com.

Ladan RAHBARI, PhD, is political sociologist and assistant professor at the Department of Sociology at the University of Amsterdam. She was previously based in Ghent University as the recipient of an FWO (Research Foundation Flanders) post-doctoral fellowship (2019-2020) for her project on Muslim migrant motherhood in Belgium. Rahbari has obtained a Ph.D. in Gender and Diversity (Studies) from UGent and VUB and has a Ph.D. in Sociology from the University of Mazandaran (Doctor in de Politieke en Sociale Wetenschappen in Belgium), a Master's degree in Anthropology (Tehran University), and a Bachelor's degree in Italian Literature (Tehran University). Rahbari lectures on migration, religion, (digital) media, and gender. Her current research engages with Iranian nationalism and the diaspora in online and offline spaces. She is also a senior researcher at the International Migration Institute (IMI) and affiliated with the Centre for Research on Culture and Gender (CRCG) and Centre of Expertise on Gender, Diversity, and Intersectionality (RHEA-VUB), and the alliance ECSO.be. Rahbari was editor-in-chief of the Journal of Diversity and Gender Studies (DiGeSt) between September 2020 and September 2021 and is now a member of DiGeSt's editorial board. E-mail: l.rahbari@uva.nl.

Marius Ioan TĂȚAR, PhD, is Lecturer in Political Science at the University of Oradea, Department of Political Science and Communication and former Postdoctoral Research Fellow at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland. His main research areas include political participation and democratization in Central and Eastern Europe. E-mail: mariustatar@yahoo.com.

Sanja TEPAVCEVIC is Research Fellow at Institute of Advanced Studies Koszeg (IASK). Sanja holds a PhD in Political Science, Political Economy Track from Central European University. Her research expertise includes investments from the emerging markets, immigrant entrepreneurship, and foreign policy of former Soviet and former Yugoslav states and countries of Visegrad Four. Currently she serves also as Adjunct Professor at International Studies MA Program of the University of Pannonia, Hungary. E-mail: sanja.tepavcevic@gmail.com.